

ARU London Digital Library Guide

a.r.u. | London

1. To start, please visit the university's website at <https://london.aru.ac.uk/>. Go to 'Student Portal' and click the box 'Digital Library' at the top right corner as highlighted in the picture below.

2. You will then be directed to the Digital Library login page. To login, please use your student email login detail, e.g. abc123@student.aru.ac.uk and e:Vision password. If you do not know your login information please use LiveChat or email icentre@london.aru.ac.uk.

Please Note: An 'off-campus user' notification can sometimes arise because of restrictions posted by some journals or publishers. Please follow the notification notes when this happens. If you are experiencing problem with access, please email: learningresources@london.aru.ac.uk

3. Once logged in, you will have full use of the 'Library Search' and 'Subject Guides' functions in the search box. Within the Library Search function, you can input specific titles or terms you may be looking for in a book or journal.

4. Students can search specific subject sources to ensure results are more relevant. To search by subject, please click 'Search by A-Z list' as highlighted below.

Once redirected to the A-Z of Subject Guides select the letter of the subject you wish to search, e.g. B for Business.

Please note: You must login to the ARU London Digital Library before accessing any sources or you will not have the appropriate rights.

Databases

A database is a searchable collection of information and may contain a range of information including books, journal articles, reports, newspaper articles, reviews, film and TV.

Some specialise in one subject or a specific type of information (e.g journal articles), others have a range of information types suitable for all subjects.

Cases and Legislation

Cases

Court cases which have legal significance (e.g. they challenge or redefine existing law and precedent) are often written up in case reports (also known as 'law reports'). Most of the leading case report series can be found in the two key legal databases: Westlaw and LexisLibrary.

Further sources of case reports and updates can be found on this page.

Sources of non-UK case reports can be found on the EU and international law page of this guide.
